Court Gives Nod To Regional COG

BY CARROLL WILSON
Randall County Commissioners gave their nod of approval Monday to the establishment and their participation in a regional planning commission in the Panhandle.

Acting with the approval of the commissioners, County Judge Brown said he will set up a meeting during the last week of this month with Amarillo, Potter County and Canyon city officials to make further plans for the establishment of such a commission.

Making the motion in favor of the regional planning commission was Commissioner Bill Butler. His motion reads: "In as much as this region is in need of facilities to coordinate the planning of this immediate vicinity I propose that we go on record as favoring regional planning and participation in a regional planning commission provided the by-laws of such commission meet the approval of the Randall County Commissioners Court. It is our opinion that such commission should be composed only of elected officials and committed to no budget."

Judge Brown pointed out that plans for a regional planning commission need to be made quickly.

"State and federal plans are going ahead with somebody," he said, "and if we don't get ours here, they'll go somewhere else."

The commissioners generally agreed that governmental entities in this area "don't have much choice" but to go along with a regional planning commission.

Butler stressed that he favors establishment of a regional commission, as long as the commission is restricted in its use of monies and is made up of elected officials.

Marion Bruce, a county resident, appeared before the court.

He said he wanted to speak for regional planning, because he had heard so much opposition to it.

Commissioners also approved a plan for redistricting commissioner precincts, voter precincts and justice of the peace precincts.

Glenn Dowlen presented the plan to the court.

Under the redistricting most of the land area in Randall County--including the city of Canyon--will be in Dowlen's precinct.

In conjunction with the approval of the redistricting plan, Commissioner Butler moved that beginning Jan. 1, 1971, the county switch to a unit system for road maintenance. His motion carried.

With the redistricting, the largest number of registered voters will be situated in precinct 1, which is under the

Inch Of Moisture Reported In Area

Almost an inch of gentle rain has fallen on the Canyon area in the past four days, and to most residents it is welcome.

Eighty hundredths of an inch were recorded from Saturday evening through Wednesday morning on the rain gauge at The Canyon News, while outlying stations reported amounts ranging from .76 to 1.20.

Cooler weather has come along with the clouds and rain. Whereas last week Canyon's high temperature readings were in the high 80s and low 90s, on Tuesday the high was only 67.

Temperature spread for Tuesday was only five degrees, from 62 to 67, and clouds hung over the city and a hard rain fell in the afternoon.

Farmers, for the most part, were pleased with the recent rains which helped to heal the scars of a summer of drought.

Some were looking for a few sunny days to finish planting winter wheat, but in the words of one Umbarger man, the rain was "far more good than bad."

"It looks like we're going to have superior wheat pasture in the county," John D. Brazzil, county agricultural agent, said.

"We've already made a good start on planting," he continued, "and this rain is just what is needed."

Around Oct. 15, he predicted, cattle will be moving into the region either by lease or purchase to take advantage of the wheat pasture.

Grain sorghum, biggest money crop in the county, is also expected to do well, Brazzil said.

"Irrigated milo should be extra good, and even the dry-land has responded to the rains. That planted late will be good--it looks a lot better than two years ago."

This outlook is markedly different from that of three weeks ago, when early summer hail plus a long rainless period shed gloom over farm forecasts.

An inch and twenty hundredths of rain was reported by William F. Schuette, five Black smoke stains the sky as a pond treated with gasoline erupts in flames at Lindsey Firemen Training Field Saturday afternoon. Canyon firemen later pulled a dummy from a burning car in the center of the pond.

Local Fire Field Named For Mayor

The Lindsey Fireman Training Field was dedicated in honor of Mayor Paul Lindsey Saturday afternoon as impressive fire-fighting demonstrations were staged on the field.

The demonstrations were part of the Zone 4 Meeting of the Panhandle Firemen's and Fire Marshals' Association.

Firemen from Canyon and seven surrounding places came for the meeting, which included a barbecue supper at the fire station and a business session.

Representatives were here from Umbarger, Tulia, Plainview, Dimmitt, Hereford, Friona, and Pantex of Amarillo fire departments. Approximately 30 out-of-town firemen attended.

After unveiling of a sign marking the field near the Canyon grain elevator as the "Lindsey Firemen Training Field," several demonstrations were staged by local firemen.

Canyon volunteers advanced on a simulated broken gas main and a burning butane tank with flooding hoses and shut off the gas valve on both.

Gasoline was poured into a small pond with a burned-out car in its center, and pond and car were set afire. Advancing on the fire with hoses, the Canyon firemen extinguished it and pulled a dummy from the car to simulate saving a human life.

Using the three-story practice tower, the men let a volunteer down from the top story by tying him to a stretcher and easing him down on ropes.

First Game Here Friday

Eagles, Hawks To Flock For Season's Opener

Birds of a feather--contrary to the adage--will become mortal enemies at 8 p.m. Friday in Buffalo Bowl.

The war Eagles of Canyon High School will take on the Phillips Blackhawks in the first season game for both teams on the Canyon field.

Canyon, with a handful of starters from last season's winning junior varsity, will be after Phillips with both claws in revenge of a defeat handed Canyon last year.

The Blackhawks, returning from a 9-1-1 season, are looking for a good way to begin their season.

Coached by Athletic Director Dunny Goode, the Eagles are a young and inexperienced club with race-horse spirit, defensive depth and a little man in the backfield who carries the ball like a track sprinter.

The Blackhawks, coached by Charles Topinka, also lack experience--with only three starters returning--but they have a couple of tackles who could plug the hole to stop a Sherman tank.

Switching just this season to a slot-1 offensive formation, the Blackhawks have experienced timing troubles during their pre-season practice sessions.

Topinka said he switched from the standard wing-T offense because he feels the slot-1 allows for throwing the football better.

He termed his quarterback, Dennis Beebe, an "adequate" passer.

The two bulldozing tackles for Phillips will be Raymond Gist, a 215-pound, 6-3 junior, who will be on the right side of the line. His counterpart on the left will be Neil Noland, 205 pounds and 6-2.

Topinka said that even with his two heavyweights his line averages only about 170 pounds per man.

Topinka's two men in the backfield, Jackie Lawson and Don Sewell, have good speed, running 10.5 and 10.1 last year in track.

Defensively, the Blackhawks will line up with four on the front line, three linebackers and four in the backfield.

When the Eagles try to go through the Blackhawk defense, they'll find Noland and Gist in their way.

Topinka, speaking of the 1969 Eagles, termed them "the best Canyon team they've had since I've been here."

The main offensive threat to Phillips will be little David

Erwin, a 5-5, 145 pound senior, who has good moves and speed.

Al Bayless, a 5-11, 198 pounder, also poses a threat to the Blackhawk defense. He's proven himself a powerful runner throughout fall practice sessions.

With most of his team of junior standing, Goode, will rely heavily on their aggressive spirit and tenacity.

But, he'll have a good sized line-up himself on both defense and offense. Gary Schrib, a 5-10, 210 pounder, is starting

Model Plane Contest Over Canyon Skies

BY CAROLYN RINEHART
The buzz of model airplanes took over the air Saturday and Sunday at the Canyon Airport as 28 owners of radio-controlled miniatures met for a contest there.

One contestant came from Wisconsin and several others from out of state. Matches were held in four classes of flight maneuvers, racing, and scale models.

The occasion was the ninth annual contest sponsored by the Amarillo Radio Kontrol Society (ARKS). Contest director was Bill Irwin.

Irwin said the society had had more members in the past but now was down to 15. "Many of our members were airmen from Amarillo Air Force Base," he said.

Irwin invited those interested in building or learning more about the little planes that can be controlled from more than a mile away to attend ARKS meetings. The group meets at 8 p.m. on the first Tuesday of each month in the Santa Fe building auditorium.

"I've been building model airplanes for about 30 years," Irwin said. Although kits are now sold containing plastic planes almost ready to fly, he said most hobbyists still make their own.

Horse Classes To Start

A program in specialized horse enterprises has been approved for the agriculture department at West Texas State University.

Land and horses for the program have already been acquired, and the first course is scheduled to start in the spring of 1970.

"We proposed the program because of the tremendous increase in popularity of pleasure and working horses," Dr. Charles M. Smallwood, head of the agriculture department, said.

"Youth programs in horse use such as FFA and 4-H are increasing rapidly, and professional horse trainers are being sought. But in higher education there is a void in this phase of animal science."

Dr. Smallwood proposes to fill this void at WTSU with a course in horse production in the spring of 1970 and courses in elementary horsemanship, advanced equitation, and specialized horse enterprises to follow later.

Girls not in the agriculture program will also have a chance in the saddle. Beginning this spring there will be a course in elementary equitation (riding) for women, with credit in the physical education department. WTSU is the first institution in the Southwest or Midwest to start such a specialized equine program, although programs are offered successfully at colleges in San Luis Obispo and Pomona, California, and at the University of Vermont.

The horse studies were approved at the August meeting of the board of regents for WTSU. One reason more institutions have not started such an animal science specialty, Dr. Smallwood said, is because the acquisition and feed costs of the geldings used for the riding courses present a problem.

This problem will be solved at WTSU by an agreement with Joe Carver, who owns the riding concession at Palo Duro Canyon State Park. Riding laboratory fees will pay the upkeep for as

CANYON RIM

I am disturbed by a clipping I received this week from The Texas Legion News.

The clipping is of an article purporting to tell the story of the capture of German Field Marshal Herman Goering. It goes into details about the capture but the story is at odds with stories related to me by Canyon men who were on the spot when it happened.

Goering was taken prisoner by Company E of the 142nd Infantry Regiment. Company commander was Joe Gill who presently is serving on the Canyon school board.

The story in The Legion News does not mention either Gill or Company E. It says Goering retained his side arms and his field marshal's baton and continued on his way in a Mercedes sedan for a formal surrender to Gen. Robert Stack who commanded the 36th Division.

This is not the way Canyon men tell it. They say Goering was brought to the company commander. The German field marshal asked where he might find an American general to whom he might surrender his side arms.

Captain Gill had Goering's side arms confiscated. This is borne out by the picture The Legion News carried along with the story. The caption says the German officers still had their pistols as they talked to General Stack.

However, the officer with his back to the camera flanking a subdued Goering clearly has an empty holster.

I understand that the youngsters from Kids, Inc., managed to get together about $332 last Saturday. I was hoping they would do much better as it is going to take about $1,500 to finance the Kids, Inc., program this year.

Although he didn't grow up here himself, Canyon must be a lot like home to Stanley Carruth who recently hung out his law shingle here.

Stanley's dad is Irby Carruth. Irby was once superintendent of Canyon schools. His mother is the late Tip Bradford Carruth.

Stanley is related to a number of Canyon people and his stepmother is the former Margaret Foster of Canyon.

U. S. News & World Report says many Massachusetts Democratic politicians are convinced that Senator Ted Kennedy's political career is smashed even in his home state.

The national magazine says some observers believe Kennedy may decide not to run for re-election next year.

People at Edgartown, Mass., are saying the Kennedys have again used their money in buying official favor. They seem somehow convinced that money and political leverage has something to do with the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne being delayed this week.

"The kind of talk you hear up and down the street is that the Kennedys have money and power and they'll be able to stall this thing off," says "The Vineyard Gazette" of Edgartown.

Even President Nixon's staunchest supporters are ready to see some positive results.

So far, after eight months of Nixon in the White House, we've seen little progress on solving the nation's two toughest problems--inflation and the war in Vietnam.

If Mr. Nixon expects to have any GOP gains in Congress next year he had better get moving on those two toughies in a matter of weeks.

Fish Tale?

HE DID IT AGAIN! H. R. Fulton has caught another German Brown from the Piedra River near Pagosa Springs, Colorado. This fish weighed 7 1/2 pounds and was a little over 25 inches long. It required an hour to be pulled in and was caught on an 8-pound test line with a gold spoon. Fulton also caught six others on the trip measuring about 20 inches. Earlier in the summer he caught a 6 1/2 pound German Brown from the same river.

Ridicule is probably the most potent discipline known to man. It is a primitive weapon, and perhaps instinctive. At any rate it is commonly observed among uncivilized peoples, and in children of all cultures.

It is fear of ridicule that

CHS Boosters Hold Meeting

About 50 persons attended the first meeting this season of the Canyon Eagle Booster Club Tuesday night.

Athletic Director Dunny Goode briefed the members on this year's football team and showed a film of the recent scrimmage with Littlefield.

Clark Mires, reporting on the Eagle junior varsity team, said offensively and defensively the team looks tough. He said the JV team meets Stinnet in game at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in Stinnett.

Booster Club President Eural Ramsey announced that the club will meet every Tuesday night at 8 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

FCA President Is F. Belcher

Frank Belcher has been elected president of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Other officers elected were Richard Podzemny, Andy Hansen, secretary-treasurer, and Cal Yarbrough, reporter.

The group will meet on the second Friday of each month at 7:30 a.m. in the Canyon High School cafeteria and the club is open to all athletes in CHS from freshman through senior, both boys and girls.

First meeting will be Friday, September 12 at 7:30. Refreshments will be served.

forces carloads of teenagers to deliberately court death by crashing head-on at high speeds. Ridicule is a factor in much smoking, drinking, narcotic addiction, vandalism, promiscuity, and a host of other social ills.

A proper sense of values should be acquired in the home. But because so many parents have slithered out of their responsibilities, the schools have fallen heir to a function they were never designed to perform.

Since the day that atheistic evolution gained acceptance in the classroom, the eternal verities have encountered increasing ridicule. The word "square" once symbolized "all wool and a yard wide," which meant the finest of material.

Now the word "square" usually denotes a stupid, backward lout who works for a living instead of being clever enough to get by without work.

The radical element on our college campuses is largely the produce of our liberal professors. For the past twenty years, the ultra liberal has dominated the average college classroom. The conservative student usually places his grade in jeopardy if he dares disagree with his liberal professor.

Just how the radicals merit the title of "liberal" is a mystery. They will go to almost any length to subdue the expression of an opinion that differs from their own.

Any public speaker who conflicts with their radical views is promptly booed into silence. The radicals demand to be heard, but refuse to listen.

Any policy that differs from their policies is immediately rejected.

They demand special privileges that they refuse to accede to others.

What is liberal about all this?

The conservative professor usually incurs the ridicule of his colleagues as well as the radical students; he is likely to be dismissed or pressured into resigning.

It is no coincidence that our conservative colleges have been free from student riot.

One staunchly conservative professor at Berkeley has been cursed, threatened, beaten, and had his classroom frequently disrupted. Other conservatives have resigned under duress.

It takes strong character and a thick skin to maintain one's integrity under pressure of ridicule. For children, and the emotionally unstable of all ages, it is almost impossible. And no one is impervious to this insidious device.

Currently, the President of the United States is probably the most powerful man on earth. But he is not immune to ridicule. He sent a highly congratulatory telegram to the Congress of National Student Association when it convened in El Paso for its annual meeting. The NSA submitted to a $50,000 demand for "reparations" from militant black students. They also voted to support the California grape boycott, and a ban on drinking Coors Beer. Both policies issued from the failure of gangster-style attempts to control private industry and independent workers.

The Convention of the Young Americans for Freedom, the conservative student group, held their annual meeting in St. Louis the same week the NSA convention met. They have not reported any commendation from the President.

It is difficult to believe President Nixon actually prefers the policies of the NSA to the YAF, but he knows he need fear no ridicule nor trouble of any kind from the YAF.

Like all public figures, the President has felt the sting of ridicule. No doubt he was defeated in his first attempt to win the Presidency by this below-the-belt tactic.

Critics distributed a rather somber picture of Mr. Nixon bearing the caption, "would you buy a used car from this man?" The gullible looked at the poster, and decided they would not.

The Nixon defeat in 1960 changed the course of the U. S., and probably of the world.

Ridicule is the common weapon of the poor loser when he has no legitimate defense. Wise people can be hurt by ridicule, but they are seldom deceived by it.

If and when disaster strikes, thousands of telephone men and operators, and tons of equipment are available to help restore communications.

Emergency phone service for police, hospitals and city officials is the first order of action. Then attention is turned to customer telephones that may be crippled.

It's a job we would rather not have to do. But when necessary—whatever the emergency . . . floods . . . hurricanes . . . tornadoes—we're ready. We may be the only phone company in town, but we try not to act like it.

Canyon Years Influence On 'Writing' Discussed

Her years in Canyon and how they influenced her writing were discussed by Miss Loula Grace Erdman Monday night at the first in a book review series sponsored by the Canyon Federated Club Council.

Speaking to about 50 persons, Miss Erdman recalled coming to Canyon in the summer of 1945 to teach in the English department of West Texas State College.

Unexpectedly, she was asked

Western Setting For USC Opener

Red checked tablecloths and the glow of hurricane lamps welcomed University Study Club members and their husbands to the annual fall party beginning the club season Friday night.

The event was held at the Gerald Dietz home, south of the city, and decorations included the six flags which have flown over Texas, branding irons, chaps and other western equipment relevant to the program theme for the club this year which is TEXAS.

A barbecue was served and members and guests observed the strange cloud phenomenon.

Mrs. Sam Jolly, club president, and her husband were present for the occasion along with other club couples including to stay on permanently in the fall. It was then that she started her first adult novel, "Years of the Locust."

This book is now in its eighteenth printing and has come out recently in paperback form. It is set in Missouri.

"The roots of 'Years of the Locust' are in Missouri, but the nurture and growth and harvest are Canyon," Miss Erdman said.

More books followed, includ-

Messieurs and Mesdames: Tom Rose, Jerry Jacobs, Harold Irwin, Foster Parker, Joseph Byrd, Lee Roy Moreland, Mac Bush, Robert Lindsey, Morris Henderson, Bruce Winn, Duane Howard, Robert Brotherton, Troy Martin, Richmond Hales, R. B. Gist, Jr., Nolon Henson, Gene Morrison, Bill Adams and the host couples of the Allen Winters, Bill Coopers, Robert Wrights, and Mrs. Truett Hull.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Roe of Nashville, Tenn., are visiting his father, Floyd Roe, and family in Canyon. The Phil Roes plan to return soon to Nashville, where they are both attending David Lipscomb College.

ing "The Edge of Time," a book about Texas ranchers and homesteaders, and her most recent one, "A Tim To Write."

"I like to write about people as they really are, not all failures or misfits or people feeling sorry for themselves," she told her audience.

"The Edge of Time" was to be made into a movie, but the author refused because the movie-makers wanted to overplay the rancher-homesteader warfare.

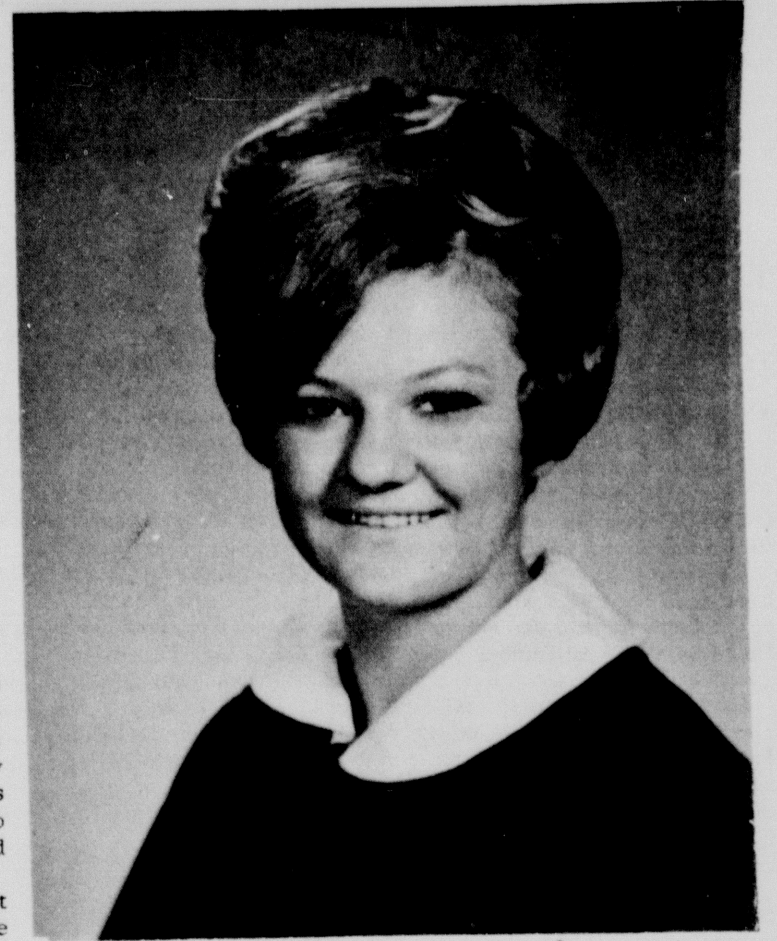

"I refused to do violence to the history of a region," Miss Erdman said.

She explained that Charles Goodnight, first rancher in the Panhandle, often would give a milk cow to a poor but worthy "nester" family. Cowboys would pay homesteader wives to knit items such as gloves and scarves.

The cowboys really didn't need the items so much, she said, but they enjoyed the companionship of the women's homes and meeting their families--including of course, their teen-age daughters.

"A pioneer dance wasn't complete without some pretty homesteader girls," Miss Erdman said.

Next in the series, which is being conducted to benefit the Canyon City Library Building fund, will be a review of a selected "book of humor" October 13 by Mrs. Eddie Melin.

The couple was honored with a wedding reception following the ceremony. The reception was in a Venetian setting of candlelight and leather ferns in back of the candlelight colored silk and lace covered table. Sides of the table were draped in folds with ivory satin ribbon bows. The ivory five tiered cake on venetian crystal plates was centered on the table and flanked with two ivory rose arrangements with long tapered chapel lighted candles. The parish reception hall was in complete candlelight.

Receiving guests were the couple, her mother, his father and his aunt, Mrs. Houston Elliot of Irving.

Serving at the reception table were Mesdames Orville Ladehoff, Vance Jeryl, Hollice Snyder, Rose Kinzer, Joseph Findley and Janice McKinzie.

Her veil was a two-tiered shoulder length creation with lace trimming the edge as it cascaded from the pillbox headdress.

The bride carried a nosegay bouquet fashioned of white fringed carnations and blue agapanthus atop an ivory covered New Testament belonging to Mrs. Olin Lockett. The bouquet was accented with blue and white satin ribbon streamers.

In keeping with tradition, the bride had a gold heart-shaped antique necklace belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Joe Liles of Vernon as "something old"; the wedding gown designed and made by her mother as "something new"; an imported lace handkerchief belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. E. L. Topper of Wichita Falls, as "something borrowed"; a blue satin garter which was a gift of the maid of honor as "something blue"; and the traditional sixpence in her shoe which had been used by her mother in her parent's wedding ceremony.

For her daughter's wedding, the mother of the bride wore a two-piece medium blue suit styled with an open-front jacket and overblouse accented with white leather accessories and a white glabella corsage. The mother of the bridegroom wore a dark blue double knit A-line dress accented with a pale blue and royal purple slash stripe across the front. She complemented the ensemble with pale grey accessories and white glabella corsage.

A formal reception honoring the couple was held in fellowship hall of the church where the table was laid with a light blue cloth overlaid with a cut-lace cloth and centered with the three tiered wedding cake decorated with white rosebuds and topped with a miniature bridal couple.

Background music for the reception was presented by Misses Linda Newberry and Lin Arnold.

For a wedding trip to points of interest in the Dallas-Fort Worth Area, the bride changed to a two-piece blue silk shantung suit styled with a sleeveless cutaway jacket and A-line skirt complemented with long sleeves white ruffled front blouse and accented with white leather accessories and a corsage from the bridal bouquet.

Only $332 Collected By Kids, Inc.

Only $332 was collected last weekend by backers of Kids, Inc., in an effort to alleviate a fund shortage.

The amount is about $1,000 short of what is needed for Kids, Inc., to carry on its five-team program this fall, according to Winston Hall, coordinator of the organization in Canyon.

Hall called for donations to Kids, Inc., last week when he found that each team begun here would need about $325 to be fielded.

Youngsters hit the streets Saturday to collect donations. The Canyon News has agreed to publish a special page listing the names of those who donate to Kids, Inc.

Practice for the football teams was to begin this week, but was hampered by rain. The teams were issued uniforms Monday.

Hall said four coaches are also needed to head up teams here.

construction material. The radio transmitter, which operates on a citizens' band frequency, is held in the operator's hand. The receiver is inside the plane. Radio-controlled planes are only for the serious-minded hobbyists, since the cost for the radio equipment alone can run from $300 to $600, Irwin said.

"Add to that $40 to $50 for an engine and $100 for construction materials, not to mention your time in building, and you have a pretty expensive little machine," he continued.

Crashes are inevitable, but the diehard hobbyist just picks up the pieces and starts over, more or less cheerfully. Irwin said four planes bit the dust in the weekend's local contest.

"All appeared to be total losses," he added.

Finished planes usually weigh from five to seven pounds. They are powered by a small gasoline motor, one horsepower for the larger models.

"To start your plane, you can buy a kit or draw your own plans," said Irwin, who is a draftsman for Jake L. Hamon, oil operator. He is married and has two teen-age daughters.

Winners in the A, B, and Scale classes in the weekend's contest received trophies and merchandise donated from the Amarillo Hobby House and model manufacturers.

Winners in the C Novice, C Expert, and Racing classes received cash prizes from $50 on down. Prizes were made up from entry fees and the club treasury.

Park Entrance Hours Change

Winter hours for entrance to Palo Duro Canyon State Park will be from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily, according to Elton Baker, head park superintendent.

Park hours are being changed this week because of reduced park use during the winter months.

Individuals or groups who know they will want to enter the park earlier or later than the regular hours are advised to contact the superintendent before their trip.

Mr. and Mrs. James Latimer visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Stanley at Kress recently.

The Longs became parents of a new baby, Tyrone Rhea, August 12 which is a great grandson for Mrs. Jeannette Robbins of Canyon.

Sightseeing excursions for the Brothertons include the Oregon coastline, deep-sea fishing at Astoria, Oregon and Port Angeles, Washington where they boarded the 'My Coho' ferry to Victoria, British Columbia and took a Tallyho Tour by horse-drawn carriage throughout Victoria.

Returning to the Walkers' they were honored with a barbecue for about 40 guests and a picnic at Silver Creek Falls.

Keith Sykes, also a folk and folk-rock singer, will be the second coffee house circuit performer. He will sing nightly Nov. 10-15.

Two views of the Arab-Israeli conflict will be presented at different times by speakers during the first semester. Kahlid Babaa, representatives of the League of Arab States, will speak to students on Nov. 14.

Presenting the Israeli side will be Rabbi Maurice Feuer of Amarillo on Nov. 17. Rabbi Feuer will represent the Jewish Chataugua Society.

floor, was demonstrated.

Jim Christopher, former fire chief, was master of ceremonies at the field.

The field was dedicated to Paul Lindsey, Fire Chief Jack Jennings said, because of Lindsey's contributions to the department during his long association with it.

Lindsey joined the department in 1937 and was a member for 28 years. He is now an honorary member.

Also active in other fields of civic endeavor, Lindsey served on the Canyon School Board from 1941 to 1947.

He was director of the local Chamber of Commerce from 1942 to 1946. In 1954 he was elected to the Canyon City Commission, where he served until 1958.

He was appointed in 1961 to fill an unexpired term on the commission, and in 1963 he was elected to the commission. He was elected mayor in 1966.

Mr. and Mrs. Cristler Crain and Jerry and a cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maddox of Walla Walla, Washington attended a family reunion Sunday at O'Donnell near Lubbock along with another cousin, Mrs. M. E. Nelson of Claude. Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Maddox, also of Canyon, attended the reunion. About 100 were present for the day's events.

future entertainers.

Rivers will appear on campus April 3.

Dr. Williams Evanstein, a West Coast political scientist, will speak to students in March on the various "isms" in the world. He is author of a book concerning this subject.

Castleberry said two more coffee house circuit singers will appear during the second semester and additional performers are being contacted to come to WTSU during that semester.

In addition to providing on-campus entertainment Castleberry said this year he has negotiated with an Amarillo agent to allow WT students a $1 reduction in admission to various performances staged in Amarillo.

many horses as are needed. The 650-acre Tierra Blanca ranch east of Canyon on State Highway 217 has been acquired for use by WTSU. In the stalls at the ranch will be kept the 28 horses donated to the program by Dr. W. W. Stout of Amarillo.

Dr. Stout is a practicing physician whose interest in horses led him to make the gift. Besides the horses, 27 registered Hereford cattle are now grazing at Tierra Blanca.

Dr. Smallwood foresees the need for another teacher with a doctorate degree in the equine field of animal science. He would immediately attract 80 to 100 students into the program, Dr. Smallwood said.

An advanced course in specialized horse enterprises would include training horses for reining, cutting, and pleasure.

Besides equipping students to be horse trainers and breeders, Dr. Smallwood said, the horse courses would help persons who enter related fields.

"County agents, for instance, deal with youth and adult horse work. Those who go into feed sales or manufacturing should be knowledgeable about horses," he said.

Dr. Smallwood pointed out that the United States horse population had grown from 4.5 million in 1959 to 7.0 million in 1968. Texas is first in number of horses with 580,000.

Four billion dollars, he added, was spent on horse feed and equipment in 1968.

miles east of Canyon, from Monday evening to Wednesday morning.

Carl Hartman Jr. of Umbarger reported .90, and an even inch was measured at Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

At the park, the gentle rain had caused water at the road crossings to rise only slightly. Water was eight inches deep Wednesday and cars were crossing safely.

Dick Gritman, assistant manager at Buffalo Lake Wildlife Refuge, reported .76 of an inch of rain at the lake for the past three days.

"There hasn't been any perceptible rise in the lake level yet," he said Wednesday morning.

It usually takes about 48 hours for rainfall to influence the lake level, he said.

Large numbers of ducks and pintail are coming into the refuge from the north in fall migration, Gritman noted.

Amarillo Weather Bureau forecast for the Canyon area called for slightly warmer daytime temperatures, with a 40 per cent chance of rain today.
